Kevin Palache is a long-time resident of Bloomfield, Connecticut. He graduated from Bloomfield High School and proceeded to become a first-generation college student after graduating from the University of Connecticut (UConn) with a degree in Finance in 2000. Upon graduating from UConn he went on to work as a Commercial Mortgage Analyst at a major insurance company in Hartford.

In 2003 Kevin started as an Independent Associate with LegalShield. He is now a field leader with the company and was appointed as Regional Vice President for Connecticut, Rhode Island, and Upstate NY.

Kevin's mission is to empower individuals to achieve their full potential by overcoming internal barriers to success. Workshops are available either in-person or virtually on topics including "The Power of Personal Development," "Time Management 101" and "Goal Setting 101." He also offers workshops on the LegalShield/IDShield benefit for individuals & companies.

Kevin has conducted workshops in the community for schools, community-based organizations, and several companies. He is married with two children and enjoys time with his family. He currently volunteers on the board of directors for The Auerfarm: A 4-H Education Center and the Bloomfield Chamber of Commerce.
